

Factors affecting the return of the product at the end of the recommended holding period

- a. Your return on the product at the end of the recommended holding period will principally be affected by the performance of the underlying[s] over the recommended holding period and of the exchange rate between the product currency and the currency in which you bought the product.
- b. What could affect my return positively?
An increase in the price of Bitcoin.
- c. What could affect my return negatively?
A decrease in the price of Bitcoin.
- d. The factors listed above provide general guidance on how changes in the price of the underlying Index may affect your return. The precise impact will depend on the timing and magnitude of these changes, and the above list should not be viewed as guaranteeing a particular outcome. See "What is this product?" for a discussion of what you will receive when you exit the product.
- e. In severely adverse market conditions, you may lose your entire investment.

What happens if 21Shares AG is unable to pay out?

The manufacturer is a special purpose vehicle. In the case of default by the manufacturer the assets it holds as collateral may be realised in order to meet its obligations to investor and the cash proceeds of this will be paid out in the order of priority of payments applicable to the products. These proceeds may not be sufficient to meet all obligations and make all payments due in respect of the securities. In these circumstances you may not be able to realise the full value of your securities and suffer a loss on your investment. There is no compensation or guarantee scheme in place which may offset, all or any of, this loss.

What are the costs?

The person advising on or selling you this product may charge you other costs. If so, this person will provide you with information about these costs and how they affect your investment.

Costs over time

The tables show the amounts that are taken from your investment to cover different types of costs. These amounts depend on how much you invest, how long you hold the product and how well the product does. The amounts shown here are illustrations based on an example investment amount and different possible investment periods. We have assumed: in 2026 you would get back the amount that you invested (0% annual return). For the other holding periods we have assumed the product performs as shown in the moderate scenario.

Investment USD 10,000
Scenarios	If you exit after 1 year
Total costs	10 USD
Annual cost impact(*)	0.1%

(*) This illustrates how costs reduce your return each year over the holding period. For example, it shows that if you exit at maturity your average return per year is projected to be 84.8% before costs and 84.7% after costs.

How long should I hold it and can I take my money out early?

Recommended holding period: 1 year

However, as the underlying(s) is/are very volatile, investors should monitor the value of the product constantly as sudden changes in value will be frequent and abrupt. Retail investors are able to sell the product on exchange other than in cases of unusual market activity or in case of technical disruptions. You may also request a redemption of the product from the issuer for cash on the anniversary of the issuance program.
